TEACHERS' CORNER

Education and Nation

An American social reformer and writer, Fredrick Douglass once wrote "It is easier to build strong children than to repair broken men". Though he wrote these lines in the context of slavery, it also holds true in relation to education as it gives strength to the children to become strong adults.

The education of children is imperative to the development of a nation. That is, a poor state of child education reflects a damaged economy and an underdeveloped nation while a good state of child education reflects a progressive and developing nation. If we give our children the opportunity to good education; we are handing them the key to their success and the success of the nation as well.

Education decides that how a child behaves, faces challenges and threats, learns, introspects, aspires and above all has a desire and will to achieve. Even our goals of achieving Global Sustainable Development by 2030 will remain unaccomplished unless we have successfully made the last child to go to school.

Education - A Lifelong Journey

In the realm of knowledge, a beacon bright,
Education's flame, a guiding light.
Through the corridors of wisdom's door,
Lies the key to futures evermore.
With every lesson, a seed is sown,
In fertile minds, the seeds are grown.
Empowered hearts, enlightened minds,
Education's journey, the seeker finds.
Knowledge, a treasure, forever gold,
Transforms the timid, makes the bold.
Through valleys low and mountains high,
Education's wings, we learn to fly.
Books like magic, open wide,
A world of wonders, with joy inside.

Ayushi Soni - PRT English

Conquering Student Stress

Student life – a roller coaster of exams, deadlines, and social pressures. It's no surprise, stress hits students like a ton of bricks. But fear not, there are ways to tame the beast!

Students, first, prioritize, make a schedule and not a wish list. Chunk tasks into manageable bites.

Next, move your body. Do Exercise. Take a walk, join a dance class, or simply stretch – let your body move, and your mind will follow.

Don't underestimate the power of healthy habits. Eat regular meals, get enough sleep, fuel your mind and body with good stuff, and watch your stress levels dip.

Remember, you're not alone. Talk to friends, family, or even a counselor. Sharing your stress lightens the load, and sometimes, all you need is a listening ear.

Finally, take breaks. Disconnect from social media, step away from the books, and do something you enjoy. Read, paint, bake, play with your pet – find your oasis and give your mind a well-deserved reset.

Students, stress doesn't have to rule your life. With these tips, you can learn to manage how to conquer stress? and emerge victorious both academically and mentally. Remember, a healthy, happy student is a successful student!

I love Maths

Maths..... Maths..... everywhere.
Everywhere it can be found,
Numbers, numbers all around.

Maths is very interesting,
Maths is very exciting.
Mathematics is full of fun,

Life is like mathematics,
Add joy and happiness,
Subtract sorrows and worries,
Multiply positive vibes, divide love among all
and you will get happiness as remainder!

Maths gives us hope that,
every problem has a solution.
Maths is necessary in life, without it,
it is difficult to survive.
